Answer Key

Question Number	Question	Answer
1	You need to provide additional header fields in your RestTemplate. How do you achieve this?	Provide a RestTemplateCustomizer that configure the rest template.
2	You want spring to be able to transform a Principal instance to your own class that contains user data and vice versa. How do have to do this?	Implement and register a Converter<Principal, YourClass> and Converter<YourClass, Principal>
3	You have a LocalDate field in your Result and you want to have only this as localized french String in your json result. How do you configure this?	Use annotation on the field: @JsonFormat(locale="fr", pattern="dd. MMMM YYYY ")
4	You have a controller where 4 out of 5 methods use the same RequestParameter, which you use to make a lookup for data in your view model. Can you use @Modelattribute and if you can, how?	Modify the Annotation instance to look like this: @ModelAttribute(optional=true)